► Ldb file locked and unable to delete

Download:

► Ldb file locked and unable to delete

· · · · · · · · · · · · ·

••

. Ldb file locked and unable to delete TechnicalUser 26 Apr 03 18:12 Yep I am having this problem too. My computer is possessed! To prevent it, we should use temporary tables because it will minimize the chances of file corruption and speed up the queries. I have 3 admins who have no problem accessing the database and 2 users who can access the db but intermittently. MIS 30 May 03 13:14 Alan Did you try the utility I highlighted above? There was another flag on the file also sappnd. As in, did you make it, or did something in the system put it there? It appears to be quite contrary to the explanation that you gave. Programmer 25 Nov 02 09:37 I too have a database that is locked by a user that is not logged on. MDB file to anywhere. I have done the following: 1. Locked files are used to restrict access of other users when the file is in use. LDB file directly and displays the results in a list box. Can you please suggest any suitable method for fixing this error? Stack Overflow is a community of 7. After that, you can post your question and our members will help you out. Software Hi, The scenario is an office with multiple workstations, 1 ADSL fixed IP connection, domain member workstations peer-to-peer through a switch. Finally, close the Unlocker and delete the files manually. It would make things a little easier. It is possible to repair a database without MS Access. Cancel Red Flag Submitted Thank you for helping keep Tek-Tips Forums free from inappropriate posts. RE: How to delete an. It mostly results from a problem with a VBA module and does not pose a risk of data loss. RE: How to delete an. Ldb file locked and unable to delete I closed it before proceeding but for some reason access decided that it was still open. A Little More on the. In Novell, until it gets notification from the application to release the locks it has placed on the LDB, it maintains them. I started at 11:30 PM and here it is 5 AM and I have to go to work at 8 AM. Rebooting always fixed the problem, but that was a major PITA with ever